FEE & EXPENSE DISCLOSURES

There is no charge to name Northwest Trustee & Management Services, LLC ("Northwest Trustee") in legal documents such as a successor trustee, an executor, or another fiduciary role. Fees will be charged when Northwest Trustee assumes fiduciary responsibility, usually upon death, incapacity, or the resignation of an existing fiduciary.

All fees commence upon acceptance regardless of the date when assets are transferred.

The Administration Fee is due at the establishment of the account and pro-rated to the end of the quarter. Thereafter, the Administration Fee shall be assessed quarterly and taken in advance based upon the fair market value of assets (excluding liabilities) and unique assets shall be supported by a third-party valuation or as agreed by the client.

The Administration Fee covers our professional expertise and fiduciary risk for each account. In addition, it covers the services related to our fiduciary role including completing ongoing account reviews, account compliance with all federal and state regulations, non-discretionary distribution or payments, ongoing financial statement preparation, management of liquid assets including overseeing delegated investment advisors, and annual budgets.

Each account is responsible for all expenses incurred during Northwest Trustee's administration. These include, but are not limited to third-party legal fees, third-party tax preparation fees, appraisal fees, investment management fees, broker or trading charges, commissions, all other professional fees, taxes, and expenses necessary for the maintenance and upkeep of assets. In addition, Northwest Trustee will be reimbursed for courier costs and travel expenses for account management.

Northwest Trustee reserves the right to charge an hourly rate for services prior to acceptance for circumstances outside the scope of normal account acceptance. Northwest Trustee will disclose to the prospective client when circumstances warrant charging for services prior to acceptance. This fee shall be charged at standard hourly rates unless the prospective client agrees to a flat fee or other fee arrangements.

All illiquid accounts must be funded with sufficient cash to cover two years of estimated fees and maintain such balance annually.

If account funds are not available to cover Northwest Trustee's fees, an invoice will be delivered to the address of record, with a due date no later than 30 calendar days from the date of invoicing. If fees are not paid and/or cannot be deducted from the account within 30 days from the date of invoicing, a late fee will be assessed each month at a rate the greater of $100 or 1.5% of the total invoice.

If an account closes or administration is transferred from Northwest Trustee within 12 months of the acceptance date, the balance of a full 12-month Administration Fee will be due at closing. All Administration Fees will not be refunded should an account close or administration is transferred from Northwest Trustee during the assessed period.

The hourly fee will be charged in increments of 1/10th of an hour.

If an account is involved in any legal modifications, trust reformations or decanting, or other legal proceedings or litigation, the account will be responsible for all legal fees, costs, taxes, and other expenses incurred. Northwest Trustee will not provide legal services to an account or client. In addition to expenses, any time by Northwest Trustee related to a said legal proceeding, litigation, or legal process shall be charged at standard hourly rates.

If a separate real estate fee is assessed, this shall cover the time associated with ensuring taxes and insurance are paid and any periodic real estate reviews are conducted. Any time spent by Northwest Trustee related to maintenance, repairs remodels, tenants, leases, purchases, or sales, as well as any non-routine issues that arise, shall be charged at the hourly rates.

Northwest Trustee reserves the right to change the fee schedule at any time without notice.
